COBWEB PARTY AT HUTCHINSON HOME

Miss Althea Hutchinson and Miss Catherine Thiele Entertained Friends Last Evening.

The Misses Althea Hutchinson and Catherine Thiele were hostesses last evening to a large company of friends at a cobweb party held at the Hutchinson home. The lawn, on which the festivities took place, was handsomely adorned with Japanese lanterns. In the house sprays of beautiful flowers graced each room. Music and games made the evening pass most pleasantly and at the close light refreshments were served. About twenty couples of young people attended the affair.

Many people think that a business course consists simply of bookkeeping, penmanship, and shorthand and typewriting AND that ALL business schools are ALIKE. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE.

A business school is built upon the CHARACTER and PERSONALITY of the MEN CONDUCTING it.

A business school to be SUCCESSFUL must be conducted by LIBERAL, BROAD-MINDED, WELL EDUCATED, EXPERIENCED men, who, ABOVE ALL must be HONEST.

FURTHERMORE, its students must be PROPERLY EDUCATED and WELL BALANCED. They must not wear SHORT DRESSES or KNEE PANTS either PHYSICALLY or MENTALLY.

We have a COMPLEX PROBLEMS to solve as any MANUFACTURER.

And to take a young man fresh from school TRAIN him, and DELIVER him to his employer PROPERLY disposed to work with MIGHT and MAIN, is no small matter.

Having been through the MILL OURSELVES, we can tell YOUR BOY just what he may expect, and PREPARE him for it. We can show him WHY it is that JOHN FAILS where WILL SUCCEEDS. Why JONES wants a boy with a RED HEAD, why SMITH wants one with a HUNGRY LOOK, Why HARRY makes a good BUYER and JIM a sure COLLECTOR.

IN SHORT, we can show him HOW the different GOOD points of his mind can be APPLIED to BUSINESS to earn DOLLARS and CENTS.

We KNOW the value of HONESTY and the positions of trust that pay a PREMIUM for it.

We know who pays the highest price for CORE and ACCURACY.

We have seen the SWAPPER of JACKKNIVES become the PURCHASING AGENT of a huge railroad.

THE YOUTHFUL MANAGER of our barnyard CIRCUSES NOW engineers the ADVERTISING of a large AUTOMOBILE FACTORY at ALMOST what our PRESIDENT draws.

A $2 A WEEK OFFICE-BOY showed the National Cash Register Co. that he could SELL THINGS, and at 26 was selling ALL their OUTPUT and drawing $72,000 of their money EVERY YEAR.

YOUR BOY'S brains PROPERLY TRAINED mean MONEY, but ALL boys MUST NOT EXPECT to make their money in EXACTLY the SAME way.

We MAKE it a part of our BUSINESS to FIND these points and show your boy HOW to USE them, and WHERE to sell them.

Our TEN YEARS' of EXPERIENCE in this is ALONE worth more to your boy than our YEARS' TUITION.

YOUR BOY should have ALL the ADVANTAGE you CAN GIVE him; NOTHING is too good for him.

It would be a PITY to see your NEIGHBOR'S boy win OVER him just because he had a BETTER start.

ALL OUR knowledge, all OUR influence is at your service.

But YOU must make the START. Your BOY must have MIND to WIN. SEE us at ONCE.

Remember: We, W. H. and C. B. Williamson, owners of Beloit Business College, personally guarantee to you every statement made by us over the name of Janesville Business College, and the same result getting methods, individual care and attention as we give at Beloit.

THE SECRET OF BAKING GOOD BREAD

Home Baked Bread Is Never So Good As Yankee Bread Because No Home Has the Proper Facilities. Let Us Show You What a Wonderful Difference There Can Be in Bread.

The secret of delicious bread lies in the oven.

The bread that you make at home is baked in a dry kitchen stove oven. Ours is baked in live steam.

Our ovens are made tight so that steam rising from the bread is retained in the ovens.

The bread is first placed in a steam proving box which aids in the rising and retains the moisture, which adds to the bread a delightful flavor all its own.

Then other steam super-heated to 340 degrees is forced in under terrific pressure.

The result is marvelous; every particle of natural moisture is baked right into the loaf.

That's what makes Yankee Bread so delightful.

WHAT MAKES BREAD RISE

All of our bread is kneaded by machinery. There was a time when bread was kneaded by the hands.

It was better then to bake at home.

The bread will not rise well unless every grain of flour is surrounded by water. So we knead the dough for an hour.

Your arms become tired and you stop in fifteen minutes. Dough kneaded this long will expand about sixteen times. Kneaded for an hour the dough would expand twenty-one times.

So here again our facilities excel yours.

FRESH EVERY MORNING

Yankee Bread is delivered to the grocers every morning while it is still warm.

Our drivers take it fresh from the ovens. In ten minutes it reaches the first store. In a few hours it is distributed to every part of the city.

Even when you bake at home twice a week you must have three-day-old bread in your pantry.

How does such bread compare with the delicious loaves of Yankee Bread brought to you fresh from the ovens.

You can get it at all grocers, at 5c the loaf, although it is worth more, because it is larger and three times as good as any other bread.

CONSIDER THE YEAST

The yeast cells cause fermentation in the dough. This continues until the bread is baked in a heat of 212 degrees.

Your oven has a maximum temperature of 200 degrees and it is dry heat.

Such heat bakes the crust to a crisp and is then unable to penetrate the center of the loaf. The crust keeps the heat out but retains the steam.

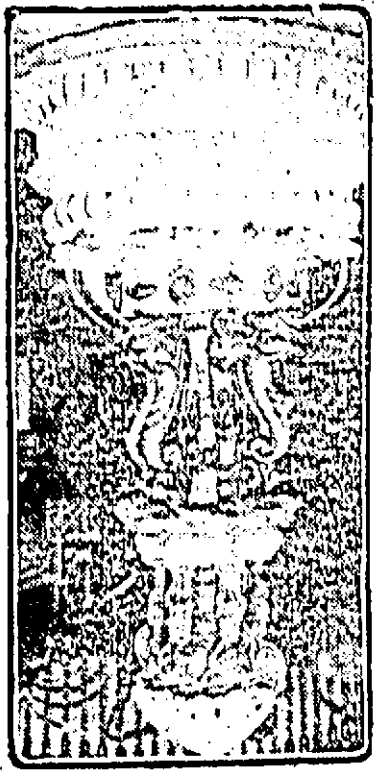

That's why home-baked bread is always moist. But the center of the loaf is only half baked.

So the yeast cells are never killed. They continue to ferment and form gas in the stomach. They cause indigestion.

Our tremendous heat of 340 degrees kills every yeast cell and makes a healthful and nutritious bread.

Largest wedding cake on record, made at a cost of seven hundred dollars and standing six feet high.

Washington, D. C.—The cake that graced the table at the recent wedding breakfast here of Tom Hamacher and his bride, who were Miss Julia Miller, is said to have been the largest ever made. It was four feet in circumference and stood six feet high, considerably taller than either bride or groom.

The cake was a marvel of the chef's art and cost $700. It was profusely sprinkled with luscious berries of Cupid and trilled in gold filigree. Scattered throughout the contents were dainty favors for the fortunate guests.

Mr. Rauscher is the son of the proprietor of a restaurant here patronized by society. His bride was a popular debutante. After an extensive honeymoon abroad they will reside in Washington.

GUARDS SEVEN HUNDRE D MILLION OF DOLLARS. WATSON W. ELDRIDGE.

Washington.—The gigantic vault in which is stored the bank notes as fast as they are turned out from the bureau of engraving has just been completed and the device for safeguarding and protecting the vast millions are most ingenious.

Watson W. Eldridge is the man who stands guard over seven hundred millions of dollars of Uncle Sam's money. Up to the time of the issuing of the emergency currency the money was stored in the treasury building, but when the bureau of engraving commenced to turn in new money by the wagon load it was soon recognized that the facilities were entirely inadequate to take care of the immense amount. The old vaults were soon overruled and the money was stored in the basement of the Union Trust company, at the corner of 11 and Fifth streets, N. W. It was stacked on the floor in ordinary wooden boxes which and hatchet could have knocked to smithereens. This was an awful risk for the government to take, but nothing else could be done. True it is that additional guards were placed to watch the building night and day, but even at that it was very insecure.

Custodian Eldridge has never had the worries during his 29 years as guardian of the United States money that he has had during the past year while the new building was in process of construction, but with his new equipment his mind is again easy, for it is impossible to gain access to the money.

The vault itself is sunk into the ground so the top of it is just even with the first floor. The only way to reach the doors is by a tiny hydraulic elevator protected by an iron door opening almost at the elbow of the chief of the issues. He holds the key to this door and it would be a very difficult task to even get down to the entrance to the vault. Should a burglar once arrive at this place he would find the vault locked by four combination locks and with a system of mechanism much the same as is used in large banking and trust companies only larger. These combinations are not known by any one man. There are four men who hold the combinations, two men knowing two combinations and two other men the other two. It is therefore necessary that two men be present before access can be gained to the vault.

Indirectly surrounding the vault and doors is a network of finely woven wires which, if touched by an owl or a bit of a dynamite pump, immediately sends of an alarm in an adjoining building, where watchmen are constantly on guard. To make sure this electrical apparatus is working properly there is a buzzer which goes off every 15 minutes inside the vault. If the warning apparatus is not working properly this buzzer will be thrown out of commission and the watchmen will be immediately notified.

Any attempt to tamper with the electric wires leading to the vault gives a similar alarm. The vault is encased in a steel lining of harveized steel one-half an inch thick and the whole vault is encased in masonry and cement more than two feet thick. While this steel would form ample protection in itself, still the chief feature of its safety is the network of steel wires which will give the alarm to the watchmen.

The cost of the vault was $12,000 and it has contained as high as $700,000,000.

Mr. Eldridge has served long and faithfully in this department of the United States treasury. It is he who is to be thanked for the attractiveness and durability of the United States bank notes.

Mr. Eldridge has passed out word to the engraving department that he can now take care of all the money they can turn out and as fast as they can turn it out. He now feels reasonably secure in guarding the vast storehouse of Uncle Sam's money.

M. F. Hooley has installed an electric motor in his monument works.

The trustees of the Swiss Reformed church have decided to hold their annual Missionfest on Sunday, August 15. Services in the forenoon, afternoon, and evening.

Henry M. Schmidt entertained two lady friends from Milwaukee at his home, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strahn are happy over the arrival of a homing boy, which came to their home Tuesday morning.

The annual school meeting of District No. 1 was held Tuesday evening. Henry Stuesky was elected director. George Pierce's place. They have not yet decided about building onto the south side.

The fourth of July celebration, held on Monday, was favored by a large crowd of people. At ten o'clock a magnificent parade formed at the town hall and proceeded through the principal streets of the village to Burnhills' grove, where the forenoon tournament of sports was carried out. A ball game was played between Albany and Monticello which was won by the latter team, 5 to 0. Hilton pitched for Monticello and struck out seventeen men. The celebration closed with dancing in the evening. Everybody enjoyed the celebration and are waiting for another one to come.

Our Imperial band, which furnished the music at Verona, did so well that they were promised another engagement in the near future by the committee.

Edward Wittwer, John Uelen and two friends from Monticello toured in this vicinity yesterday buying choirs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Clarke of Monticello were visiting here the first part of the week.

Mrs. Rudy Hooley and Mrs. Dr. Hooley went to Freeport yesterday.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

AVOID TOO MUCH VARIETY.

Mixing foods indiscriminately is, next to hurried eating, which means over-eating, the most prolific cause of digestive troubles. A healthy child (which is rarer than we suppose) will select one article of food and satisfy the appetite on that; the stomach will do the same, and so digestion will be undisturbed. Apples digest in an hour, pork in four; the pork is not ready to leave the stomach when the apples should; there is a conflict, which a person of weak digestion can feel, and which affects the strongest. Some foods are especially inharmonious; no two are perfectly harmonious.

It has been shown that the system secretes the particular kind of digestive juices which each food requires. Mixtures must, therefore, be inharmonious. It is largely for this reason that nutrition is best maintained on a single article of food, like milk or wheat, which contains all the elements of nutrition—although sweet milk is adapted to the adult and fat is a desirable addition to wheat. Not more than three articles should be eaten at a meal, one being the ideal. Who would care to eat an average meal if it were first mixed? Variety at a meal is not necessary. No case of starvation is recorded where bread only was furnished in abundance.

Too Much Honor.

Plaintiff's "Tigers" had come over to play baseball with Blinatown's "Lions" and the visiting club was quartered at the village inn. When the crookery drummer from Boston reached the town he found it bustling with excitement, and in his good-natured way he thought to add to the merriment by calling the landlord aside and asking:

"Can you accommodate President Taft and his family with nine rooms if they decide to stop off here for the night?"

"My stars, but you don't mean it?" exclaimed the host in reply.

"Didn't you see by the papers that the President and party were traveling this way? They may, conclude to stop off, and you shouldn't be caught unprepared."

"I don't know what I do with 'em if they do stop off! Say, be a good fellow and do me a favor, go down to the depot for the 4 o'clock train, and if the President and his friends go to get off you tell 'em how it is."

"But how is it? I have noticed a lot of excitement around, but haven't caught on to the occasion. Any great man dead or anything?"

"Any great man dead?" repeated the landlord as he rolled up his eyes. "If it was only a great man dead I wouldn't mind it, but I've got the Plunketown 'Tigers' on my hands for the day and evening, and I want you to notify the President that if I have any more honors thrust upon me I shall break down and faint in a fit."

"PERSONAL IN HIS CASE.
Dickson—Oh, Johnson's a fool to let his wife buy his cigars."

Nelson—That isn't any of your business.
Dickson—Yes, it is. Johnson always gives me a cigar every time we meet."

THE CROP REPORT

With the corn and oats prospects in the west and northwest the best ever known in July, an estimated increase over last year's crop of more than 50,000 bushels and more than 250,000 bushels in excess of the record-breaking harvest of 1906; with unprecedented prices for cash grain prevailing in spite of the prospects for the biggest crop in the country's history;

with the granaries cleaned out at this time of the hold-over harvest, as they have not been for many years, owing to the high prices that have prevailed for months; with the tariff bill nearing its final disposition in Washington and the business world clearing the decks for a record smashing dash, the country is believed to be entering upon a period of prosperity that will surpass even the memorable revival and expansion of the McKinley era.

The optimists of the city had an hazy yesterday, when the government crop report came over the wires from Washington.

Everything else, as they viewed the situation, was awaiting this official estimate.

Throughout the entire industrial world the one thing required to start the prosperity band wagon down the great American pike with colors sailing high, as the wise men saw it, was assurance that the harvest would be all right.

And yesterday the official figures of the Department of Agriculture indicated a crop that will tax the railroad steamship and elevator facilities of the country, while Mr. Farmer has a picture ahead of him of "Easy Street" spelled with capital letters, particularly with corn up around 70 cents a bushel, oats not far behind, and wheat day will arrive when the city may be considered completed," says the Wall Street Journal. "It should not require any great reasoning power to draw the inference that when a city is completed, in this way, it is one with Ninveh and Tyre." In fact it is dead. Growth is a principle of life just as much with cities as with anything else. In the same way there is no such thing as finality in the efforts to secure good government. The price to be paid for the gift is a high one, and people who enjoy it, in fact, must never cease to show practically that they deserve it.

"Attorney General Wickersham expressed the hope at Louisville that the corporations had learned their lesson and that the relations of the federal government with them would now have to do with upbuilding rather than demolition. We all hope so, just as in vague way we all hope for a time when we shall be able to stop work and take life easy. We are generally not good for much when that time comes.

"So far from there being any likelihood of the fulfillment of the federal attorney general's amiable hope, there is now more need of vigilance than ever. Human nature has not changed, and a serious reaction was almost inevitable after the aggressive Roosevelt regime. Corporations learn very slowly, and in some cases seem almost incapable of learning at all. Although the late President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania was an early convert, and helped both by precept and example, it was only in the last ten years that our railroads began generally to realize how greatly to their advantage the fullest publicity was. They see now what it means to their credit and financial, but many of our industrial corporations cling to the old and ugly methods of secrecy and corruption. Those that do not do so, in fact, are still apparently in the minority, although there is no question that the general standard has been raised somewhat. There is, however, much to do, and there is a great fight against entrenched privilege still before us.

"It is well worth while to make that fight, and, indeed, it will be a bad day for this country when such an object is not worth fighting for. Mr. Wickersham can make up his mind that the time will never come when 'the ax can be laid aside.' It would doubtless be excellent if we could send our policemen out on patrol armed in the panoply of virtue and a few muzzles from Stolsky, but until the millennium is reached the club will be found handy, and when that happy time arrives we shall not, of course, need any policemen at all. Public opinion can do a great deal in this matter, and indeed, all the efforts of legislators and newspapers would be worthless without it.

"The intelligent course for the public to pursue is to assume in our corporations a stammering effort to be honest, but at the same time to remember that they will bear close watching. Admitting that the wicked do when no man pursues, they make much better time if you get after them."

Telegraphic reports in the morning papers state that in the northern part of the state conferences are being held between politicians with a view of defeating La Follette for reelection and Washington dispatches state that Edmunds, the republican state chairman, is in contact with Senator Stephenson with the same idea in view. If these be true there promises to be a lively campaign ahead of us as Congressman Cooper is sure to have opposition in his district. Let root in his and Nelson in his. However, it is to be hoped the contests can be held off until the public can have time to forget the best of nature and their long-drawn-out fight.

Flying across the English channel would have been but sport, for the Wrong Brothers, who appeared in the Nonpareil parade—if they machine could have flown.

King Peter of Serbia told from his horse but he is still thankful that it was not from the throne that he fell, as the latter would have been far more painful.

It looks better, any way, to see an American sitting at that London conference on the Chile loan.

If the Standard Oil Co. carries out its threat to advance the price of gasoline next month it will work great hardship on John D. Rockefeller and other automobilists.

Mr. Harriman, in cabling over for four boxes of his favorite brand of cigar, must be highly commended for patronizing his no industries.

It is prosperity news to the tramp fraternity to learn that the number of idle freight cars is fast being lessened.

Two Roosevelt's were equal to six rhinoceroses to say the least.

It is impossible to keep a good river down when its name happens to be Haw.

Rag Rugs for Summer House.

Some of the wealthiest New York women are furnishing their summer homes with rag rugs, instead of the handsome Oriental floor coverings that are a mark of luxury; and what seems odd to those who cannot afford to please each whim, the rooms are being repapered with simple sprigged effects, and all evidences of up-to-datedness are being eliminated, to be in keeping with these copies of the colonial rag carpets.

In the Temperate Zone.

After a man is 50 his curiosity as to the hour at which the parade starts is very mild. —Topeka Capital.

THE STEPMOTHER.

It is true some one should say a good word for the stepmother, who is often greatly misunderstood and criticized.

Perhaps too much is expected of her.

Mothers themselves are not perfect. How, then, can you expect a perfect stepmother?

Poor woman! Often she undertakes duties little understood when she assumes them. Only a surpassing love will supply wisdom and patience and strength for the successful issue of her labors.

When she assumes direction of children that are not her own she must learn to know their moods and emotions and ways, a thing difficult enough at the best.

Moreover—The stepmother must be careful to give her stepchildren all the rights and privileges to which they are entitled—and know just where to draw the line.

Besides, she must be strong enough to take her own place and hold it. It gracefully and kindly, but hold it.

She must carefully preserve the father's influence and never step between him and his children. And she must enforce the father's authority.

And—But why try to catalogue the onerous duties and trials of the stepmother?

This is true: However well she may succeed and however much the real mother may have failed, the stepmother may expect criticism from the neighbors and, it may be, hostility from the relatives of the family.

Many a conscientious, self-sacrificing woman has learned that bitter-ness.

Nevertheless—The good foster mother who puts her soul into the mothering of a dead woman's children, who robs neither the father of his standing with his children nor the children of their rightful inheritance, who guides the little feet into careful paths and directs the older feet from straying, who despite criticism and objection worthily fills this place of mother in the household—that woman has been generously successful. Her life has been well worth while.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

Once in a while I am wacky, and sick of the harrowing, great worry of losing the orange, and chewing away at the rind; wacky of putting up castles, and a while calling them castles of hope, only to find they are bubbles, and made of inferior soap. Once in a while I grow weary of seeing the other men win, while I am tossing behind them, bewailing the loss I am in; all that I do is so futile, and all that I hope is in vain; I seem to be shy of the wisdom to try to get out of the rale. Once in a while I grow weary of being on soap bubbles and shaw; ah, how I am longing and yearning to feed a large pile to my jaw! Then I grow morbid and bitter, and savagely gnaw at my pen; why can't I win in life's battle, like other more fortunate men? Once in a while I grow lured, and place a bet toward my head, and say to these morbid reflections: "Go, road with the things that are dead! Heaven has treated me better than such a four-flusher deserves; it's me for my highest endeavor, so watch, and get onto my curves!"

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Taking the School Census: S. C. Barnham, clerk of the board of education, is busily engaged in the work of taking the annual school census.

Jailed for Twenty Days: William Eaton, the hobo who gave Officer Patrick Fanning and ex-Alderman Edward Schmiedley a hard tussle on Third street yesterday forenoon, was haled into municipal court late in the afternoon and tried on the charge of using foul and abusive language. Despite his threats and boasts that he would be taken before a higher court, he was found guilty and hauled off to the county jail for twenty days.

Mr. Birch a Proud Father: When physical Director P. E. Birch of the Y. M. C. A. returned from a cross-country hike with the Juniors yesterday afternoon to his home in the Kent flats, he was notified by a smiling nurse that the stock had calved in his absence and left him a fine son. Mother and child are getting along nicely.

Getting Ready for Camp: Secretary J. C. Kline of the Y. M. C. A. and Paul Richards and Arthur Welsh went to Delavan Lake this morning to make the preliminary preparations for the Juniors' ten-day outing which begins on August 1. They will rent cottages and put the 16-passenger fishing boat which is owned by the Association into commission. The Juniors will open camp immediately following the Juniors.

Kenosha Offers Reward: Chief Appleby today received notice in the effect that the city of Kenosha has offered $200 reward for the arrest of Frank Elford, alias Frank Madison, who is wanted for the attempted murder of Chief of Police Owen O'Hara of that city on the night of July 5. The assassin is described as being 5 feet 4 inches in height; smooth shaven and dark complexioned; weight, 170 pounds; wearing a gray suit and light hat.

Second Mosquito—You'd better leave these get-rich-quick schemes alone.

Strength of Beetles.

Beetles possess an enormous amount of strength. The common beetle can draw 500 times its own weight, and a stag beetle has been known to escape from underneath a box on which a weight had been placed 1,700 times greater than the insect's body.

His Reason.

A man applied at the factory for a job. Among other questions the foreman asked him why he had left his last place. "Well," he replied, "they asked me to please leave, and I didn't like to refuse them." —Lousenauer.

REV. R. C. DENISON IN SAN FRANCISCO

Dr. James Mills Receives Letter from Man Who Heard Former Janesville Pastor Preach on July 4.

Dr. James Mills has received from his friend, Hugh Fraser, Chief of all the Scottish clans on the Pacific coast and a resident of Rock county 50 years ago, a letter regarding Rev. Robert C. Denison's sermons delivered at the First Congregational church in San Francisco on Sunday, July 4. "I assure you," he writes, "that you had a smart young man for 15 years. He preached this evening on President Lincoln. It was one of the best I have heard in many years. I had a few words with him afterwards. He is to call on me and enclose one of the church circulars."

The circular announcement, which bears on the outer page a picture of the imposing edifice at the southeast corner of Post and Mason streets, St. Francis hotel block; a statement that it is the first church to be rebuilt after the fire; and a calendar of the regular services by Rev. George C. Adams, pastor, contains the following announcement:

"Today we welcome to our pulpit Rev. Robert C. Denison, who has been for thirteen years Pastor of the Congregational church at Janesville, Wisconsin, and who on September 1st is to become Pastor of the United Church in New Haven, Conn. Mr. Denison has been for many years a friend of our pastor, and his family were most helpful members of his church in St. Louis, Mo."

THOMAS COURTNEY HAS PASSED AWAY

Well-Known Meat Dealer, Who Has Been Ailing for Long Time, Died This Noon.

Thomas F. Courtney, well known and highly respected in this city, died this noon at 12:15 at his home, 259 South River street, at the age of forty-seven years. For many years Mr. Courtney conducted a meat market on West Milwaukee street, during which time he made many friends in a social as well as a business way. On February 1 of this year he was forced to leave the business on account of failing health. It was hoped that a rest might improve his condition. His death is a terrible shock to his many friends. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife, three daughters, Gertrude, Agnes, and Marcella, and two sons, Clarence and Thomas F. Courtney, Jr., also a sister, Mrs. Myers, of Chicago. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

BAXTER CO. HAS INCREASED STOCK

From $35,000 to $100,000—Dissolution of Gary Tobacco Co.—Dissolt Business College Incorporated.

By the terms of an amendment to the articles of organization of the Baxter Mining Co., which was filed with the register of deeds today, the capital stock was increased from $35,000 to $100,000 and the president and secretary were authorized to issue 72,000 shares of the stock to the stockholders of the American Lead & Zinc Mining Co., as payment in full for a sublease of the west 80 acres of the Carr farm. The procedure was made advisable by the fact that operations were being extended up to the west line of the Carr farm and the further fact that valuable bodies of ore in the latter premises were to be mined in the Baxter mill. It was authorized at a meeting of the stockholders—Geo. S. Parker, W. P. Palmer, J. M. Bostwick, R. M. Bostwick, Jr., Jos. L. Bostwick, and S. B. Lewis—held on January 15.

A resolution of dissolution of the Gary Tobacco Co., of Edgerton, signed by C. H. Vilas, vice-president, and George E. Gary, secretary, was also filed today. The resolution was passed at a meeting of all the stockholders which was held on May 27.

Articles of organization of the Beloit Business College corporation, capital stock $15,000, have also been placed on file at the same office. The incorporators are W. H. and C. H. Williamson, and E. H. Dunn.

PLEASANT SURPRISE ON VERNICE ERLER

Twenty Friends Helped Her Celebrate Her Seventeenth Birthday Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon about twenty of the little friends of Miss Vernice Erler gave her a surprise party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Erler, 326 South Academy street. The affair was given in honor of the seventeenth birthday of Miss Erler and was greatly enjoyed by the young people. Games were played on the lawn, refreshments being served. The guests presented Miss Erler with many pretty gifts. Those who were present were: Harriet Griffin, Florence Hunt, Marie McCue, Marie Connor, Adelle Mason, Helen Garbutt, Elizabeth and Katherine Scholler, Helen Russell, Mabel Horn, Vernice Inman, Hazel Page, Robert Erler, Gladys Smith, Edna Chastell, Dorothy and Margaret Dieckhoff, and Koshkonong. One of the features of the afternoon was the taking of a group photograph of the children.

MRS. BRADLEY HAS BEEN CALLED HOME

Wife of Joseph Bradley and Mother of Mrs. Frank Moses Died This Morning.

Mrs. Joseph Bradley died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Moses, 162 South High street, this morning at 9:45. The cause of her death was Bright's disease, with which she has been a patient sufferer for the past two years. Mrs. Bradley was born at Agamass, Mass., September 6, 1844. She has lived in Janesville twenty years at 108 Highland avenue until four months ago, when she removed to the home of her daughter. She was married to Joseph Bradley November 7, 1867. To this union three children, two of whom are now living, were born. They are: Mrs. Frank Moses of this city and William Bradley of New York City. Her husband also survives her.

Mrs. Bradley was a faithful member of the Baptist church for many years and a devoted and loving wife and mother.

The notice of the funeral will be given later.

DID ALLIGATOR EAT UP AN AVALON MAN?

Report From Camp Walton, Florida That Albert Wilcox Was Killed by Reptiles.

According to telegraphic advices received from Camp Walton, Florida, Albert Wilcox, until two years ago a resident of Avalon, was killed and eaten up by alligators. It is said that nothing but the clothes of the dead man and portions of his crushed bones have been found. Wilcox spent his early days near Avalon and was married to Miss Eva Kausman, of Clinton, nearly twenty years ago. About three years ago his wife secured a divorce owing to her husband's habits, and removed to Forest Grove, Oregon, where she makes her home with her three daughters—Dorothy, Anna, and Elizabeth. Mr. Wilcox's father died two years ago and his mother married Mr. George Royce of Chicago. Accompanied by his mother, Albert Wilcox went to Camp Walton, Florida the first half of the past winter and it is thought went in swimming and was attacked and eaten by the big alligators. He has no relatives near Avalon.

THE TARIFF BILL PASSED AT LAST

ALDRICH-PAYNE MEASURE 19 ADOPTED BY THE SENATE.

FINAL VOTE IS 45 TO 34

Senator Beveridge in Closing Debate Declares Republican Party Has Not Kept Promises of Downward Revision—Disputed by Aldrich.

Washington, July 9.—By a vote of 45 to 34 the tariff bill was passed by the senate a few minutes after 11 o'clock last night under dramatic circumstances.

Ten Republican senators defying a last attempt of Aldrich, the senate's master, to read them out of the party, stood up for the fulfillment of platform pledges and repudiated the performance marked by the course of tariff revision to date, casting their vote against the passage of the measure. Here are the ten:

Beveridge (Ind.), Hristow (Kan.), Brown (Neb.), Burkett (Neb.), Clapp (Miss.), Crawford (N. D.), Cummins (Ia.), Doolittle (Ia.), La Follette (Wis.), Nelson (Minn.).

Upon motion of Senator Aldrich, the vice-president announced the senate conference as follows: Senators Aldrich, Burrows, Pomeroy, Hale, Cullom, Republicans and Dandiel, Money and Bailey, Democrats.

President Taft arrived in Washington to-day and at once began a conference with leaders to rush the measure through.

How the Senators Voted.

The vote on the bill was:

Yeas—Aldrich, Borah, Bourne, Bradley, Brandegee, Briggs, Bulkeley, Burnham, Burrows, Burton, Clark, Dixon (Wyo.), Crane, Dutton, Carter, Clapp (Minn.), Cullom, Doolittle, Duffell, Gurnea, Hamlin, Harbo, Hristow, Johnson (N. D.), Keam, Lusk, McCall, McKim, McNary, Nelson, Oliver, Pomeroy, Pomeroy, Pomeroy, Scott, Smith (Mich.), Smoot, Stephenson, Sutherland, Warner, Warren, Wetmore—45.

Nays—Bacon, Bailey, Bankhead, Beveridge, Hristow, Brown, Burkett, Chamberlain, Clapp, Crawford, Cullom, Cummins, Dandiel, Doolittle, Fletcher, Foster, Prazier, Gurnea, Hughes, Johnston (Ala.), La Follette, McLaughlin, Martin, Money, Nelson, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Shively, Shumaker, Smith (S. D.), Stone, Tamm, Taylor—34.

Beveridge Raps Party.

The failure of the senate to keep the promise made to the people by the Republican party respecting a revision of the tariff downward was the theme of Senator Beveridge as the debate on the pending bill was drawing to a close.

"Our votes," he said, "shall be cast in harmony with our party's pledges as voiced by our party's leader and the nation's president."

Suggesting that the "insurgents" would cast their votes on the final passage of the bill in conformity with their previous action, Senator Beveridge said they would do so, as a notice to the conferees to bring back a bill in which there should be no decrease of duties.

Senator Beveridge was answered by Senator Aldrich who said he had often seen men interpret their own judgment, as the judgment of their party.

"The Republican party is a party of majorities," he added, "and the views of the majority in matters of legislation control party policies. The senator from Indiana does not speak for the Republican party. He has no right to call here the name of the president of the United States in support of any suggestion which he has made."

Aldrich Defends Republicans.

Senator Aldrich declared that the pending bill was a fulfillment of the party's pledge. If senators wished to vote against the bill, he said, they should not attempt to speak for their party.

As it passed the senate the bill contains almost 400 paragraphs. The senate made 810 amendments to the house provisions, many of which were added yesterday when the senate sat continuously from ten o'clock in the morning until 11:18 at night, stopping neither for luncheon nor dinner.

The most interesting occurrences of the sitting were the adoption of amendments by Senator Bradley of Kentucky and Senator Curtis of Kansas, the former exempting tobacco "in the hand" from the internal revenue tax of six cents a pound, and the latter placing a countervailing duty on crude petroleum shipped from countries which impose duty on all imports from the United States. The action on tobacco was a real surprise. The senate has frequently refused to remove the tax.

Can't Wed Dead Wife's Sister.

London, July 9.—By a vote of 221 to 21 the church council, which was attended by the leading bishops, clergy and laymen of the Church of England, has declared that marriage to a deceased wife's sister, recently legalized in this country, was contrary to the principles of the Scriptures.

"Wets" Win by 39 Votes.

Bristol, Va., July 9.—The "wets" carried Bristol in a local option election to-day by a majority of 38 out of 815 votes cast.

French Senate Adopts Convention.

Paris, July 9.—The senate adopted the Franco-American extradition convention.

"TERRIBLE TERRY" CRAZY.

McGovern, Once Featherweight Champion, Held on Wife's Complaint.

New York, July 9.—"Terry" McGovern, former featherweight pugilist, was committed by a Brooklyn magistrate to the observation ward to the Kings county hospital. Witnesses testified that his actions for some time indicated that his mind had become unbalanced.

If the hospital authorities take this view at the end of a week's observation it is probable that he will be sent to an institution for treatment.

McGovern spent several months at a sanitarium in Stamford, Conn., three years ago, but was discharged as cured. He was arrested on the street on the complaint of his wife.

FRENCH OFFICIAL SEEKS DUEL.

Minister of Finance Wants One of Those Bloodless Affairs.

Paris, July 9.—As he was leaving the senate M. Caillaux, minister of finance, was struck in the face by Charles Bos, a former deputy, who claims the finance minister slandered him in the chamber by charging him with lobbying against the bill to renew the subsidy agreement with the Messageries Maritimes Company.

M. Caillaux later sent his seconds to Bos. It is understood that the clerk of the senate will begin proceedings against Bos in the correctional court for insulting a magistrate in the exercise of his duties in the precincts of official functions.

The Eskimo Boy Going Home.

New York, July 9.—Meno Wallace, the discontented and unhappy Eskimo boy who was brought to the United States 14 years ago by Commander Parry, will sail on the steamer Roseland from New York to-morrow, bound for Greenland, where, among his own people he will live again the only life that seems to him worth while living.

Senator Aldrich's Son Divorced.

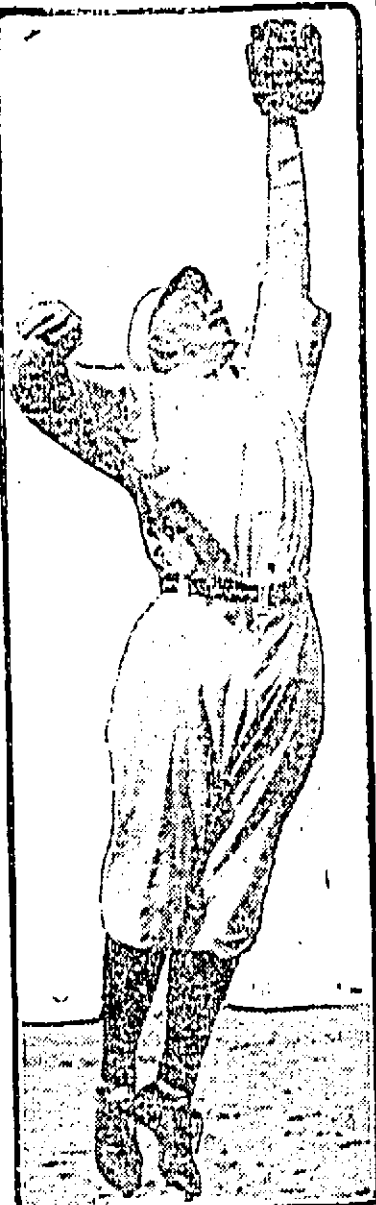

Providence, R. I., July 9.—Mrs. Mary Larned Burrance Aldrich, wife of Edward Burgess Aldrich, eldest son of United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, was granted a divorce from her husband on the ground of non-support, and was awarded the custody of their ten-year-old child.

Ketchel to Fight Langford.

"REBEL" OAKS OF THE GINCPATI REDS UP IN THE AIR FOR A HIGH ONE.

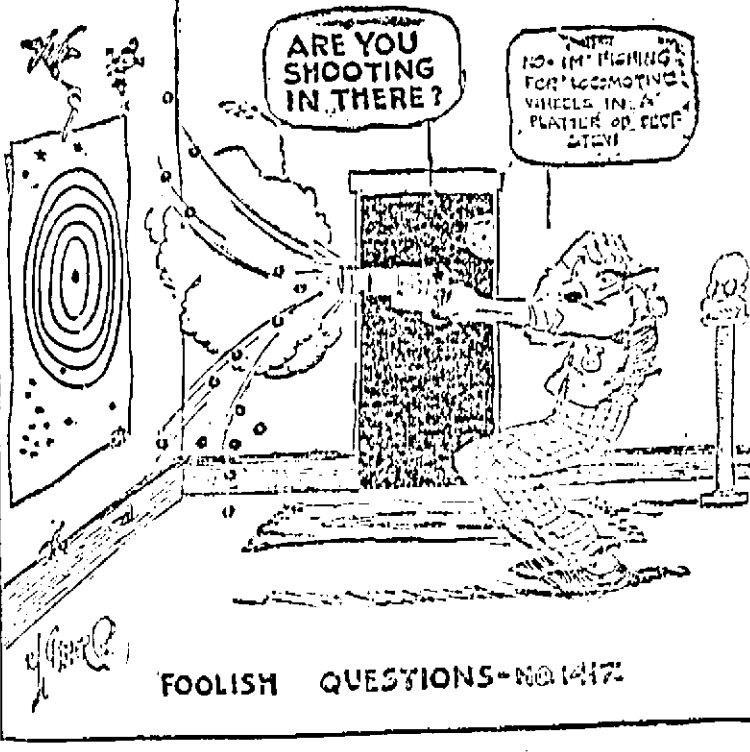

In Oaks, grabbed off from the Pacific Coast league, Clarke Griffith has apparently picked up the red oak-leaving trail of the season. To date Oaks ranks as one of the best hitters of the National league. He is closing at a .300 clip and has two players, Hugh Wagner and Mike Mitchell, have made more hits than he up the season to date. Nor is Oaks short on his base running. Wagner, Mitchell and Leach alone are ahead of him. To Oaks is due much of the credit for the Reds' good showing so far this season.

Food Scarce.

PRESIDENT TAFT IN PEACE TALK

SEES EVERLASTING UNION OF ENGLAND, FRANCE AND UNITED STATES.

SAYS IT CAN'T BE SEVERED

Ambassadors Repeat Their Declarations of Faith in Future Amity of Three Nations at Final Celebration of Champlain Tercentenary.

Burlington, Vt., July 9.—The president, the French ambassador, the British ambassador and other dignitaries who have participated in the last three days in the Lake Champlain tercentenary celebration, left last night on a special train. President Taft went to Washington.

The celebration was in many ways a repetition of the programs followed in New York. The president seemed more deeply impressed than ever with the sincerity of the expressions of good will which were uttered now by the accredited representatives of France, Great Britain and Canada and declared that the unity which exists between these great nations and the United States never can be torn apart.

Celebration a Feast of Peace.
The entire celebration conducted in the shadows of ruined old forts which have been surrounded in days gone by with hordes of fighting men, and on fields where the soldiers of France, America and Great Britain have known the clash of swords, has been a veritable feast of peace. Peace and a lasting era of good will have been the themes upon which all of the speakers have dwelt. The president declared the Champlain celebration would fill a unique place in history as the memorial of renewed expression of the union and the amity existing between Great Britain, France and the United States.

The French ambassador, M. Jusserand; the British ambassador, Mr. Bryce; Gov. Hughes of New York, Gov. Prouty of Vermont, and Postmaster General Lombard of Canada, were the speakers of the day, in addition to President Taft. The expressions of all were most felicitous. The graceful compliments of the French ambassador, the sincere expressions of regard from the British ambassador, the stirring oratory of the Canadian postmaster general, the warm welcomes of Gov. Hughes and Prouty, and the significantly expressed appreciation of the president of the United States for what the celebration has done to strengthen the bonds of amity between the United States and France and England were the features of an interesting day.

Union That is Lasting.
"The feature of this memorial that I think is so unique," said the president, "is the gathering here in amity, in peace and in a union that cannot be torn apart, three great powers, England, France and the United States, and with England's fairest daughter, the Dominion of Canada. I ask you where, in all the history of memorials, can you find one that in that respect will match this? Two regiments of Canadian soldiers, the governor's Footguards and the Royal Highlanders have marched shoulder to shoulder with the militia of Vermont and the regulars of the United States. They will all understand the same orders in the same way, and you won't feel, except by the difference in color that you are looking on any different or varied race."

"And now, my friends, I am not going to keep you any longer. If there is any one thing that my experience in a continuous show has taught me, it is that each man ought to limit his particular stunt. I thank you."

ABANDON DROWNED WOMAN.

Illinois Police Seek Couple Who Fled
After Mysterious Accident.

St. Louis, July 9.—Early this morning the Granite City authorities asked the police to arrest T. C. Miller and Miss May Gude of St. Louis, who it is charged abandoned the corpse of a woman believed to be Miss Gude's sister, and the wreck of their gasoline launch, after the craft had overturned in Gabaret slough near Granite City.

The man and woman, after being rescued by persons on shore, told conflicting stories as to their relationship to the dead woman. They then hired a rig from a farmer and drove to wards East St. Louis. The authorities there, however, were unable to find traces of them.

SLAYS HUSBAND; TELLS WIFE.

Slayer of New Orleans Man Coolly Informs Woman of Crime.

New Orleans, July 9.—"I have had a little trouble with your husband," said Carl Hartman to Mrs. John G. Knecht, as he was about to leave Knecht's bakery in Bayou road where he was employed. Mrs. Knecht found the mutilated body of Knecht on the floor of the baking room with a bloody axe near by.

All of the money in the cash drawer of the bakery was missing. The police believe that jealousy, with the young wife of Knecht as the moving principal, may have proved a prime factor in the tragedy. Hartman has not been captured.

VICTORY FOR BOOK TRUST IN ELECTION OF JOYNER

Educators Who Want Regulation of Prices Defeated in Fight for Presidency at Denver.

Denver, Col., July 9.—James Yankin Joyner of North Carolina defeated Ben Blawie of St. Louis and J. H. Phillips of Birmingham, Ala., for the presidency of the National Educational association, and his election is regarded as a victory in the fight against any regulation of the price of school books.

Among the other things done by the association were:
Went on record against the existence of fraternities in high schools in a resolution which declares such organizations to be opposed to the spirit of democracy.

Decided to "investigate" the feasibility of simplified spelling, but took no decided stand either for or against. In the regular session, Edwin G. Dexter, commissioner of education for Porto Rico, offered a resolution urging that congress be asked to confer citizenship on the people of Porto Rico.

Immediately a member from Alabama arose and proposed to tack on a little suggestion about freedom for the Philippines. He said they had been nurtured by the eagle of freedom going on for years now and thus far the only civilizing influence they had felt was the water cure.

Miss Mary Shirley of California then declared:

"Now if there is going to be any freedom advocated here, I want to make another amendment. If the savages of Porto Rico and of the Philippines are going to get support here, I want the votes of this association to be rubbed in behalf of those who deserve it most—the women of the United States."

Irwin Shepherd of Winona, Minn., was re-elected secretary; A. H. Chamberlain of California, was re-elected treasurer.

San Francisco was selected as the next meeting place. Milwaukee and Boston contended for it.

SUFFRAGETTES SEE GLADSTONE.

England's Home Secretary Makes Sympathetic Speech to Women.

London, July 9.—Following a direct appeal made to the king by Mrs. Despard and a deputation of suffragettes, the home secretary, the Right Hon. H. J. Gladstone, acceded to a courteous audience last evening to eight of the women's representatives. Mrs. Despard was leader of the deputation. After hearing arguments and reading their petition, the home secretary made a sympathetic speech, expressing regret at the present involved situation and the belief that the matter would finally be settled in a way satisfactory to women.

Mr. Gladstone explained that he could do nothing to commit the government. He admitted that the petition was an argument for an audience and promised to forward it to the king.

The latest heroine of the suffragette cause is Miss Wallace Dunlop, who was discharged from prison after she had refused food for 91 hours. Miss Dunlop had only been in prison five days.

DAMAGE BY FLOOD $1,500,000.

Deaths in Missouri and Kansas Now Placed at Eight.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—The flood situation in Missouri and Kansas is gradually improving. At Kansas City the Kansas and Missouri rivers both were still rising, but the prediction is that they will begin falling to-day without causing damage here.

Springfield, Mo., on the Jordan river, and Ottumwa, Kan., on the Marais des Cygnes river, were the points where most suffering was experienced yesterday. The streets were buried under ten to fifteen feet of water.

The body of R. A. Dameron of Colfax, Ill., who was drowned at Springfield, Mo., on Tuesday, has not been recovered. Eight have been drowned and the damage is estimated at $1,500,000.

MRS. STABER IS KILLED BY THIEF

BURGLAR IN BATTLE WITH HER SON FIRES FATAL SHOT.

CONFESSES TO THE CRIME

New York Police Quickly Capture
Shoeless Robbers Who Fought for Life When Found in Flatbush
Home—Town Parlo-Stricken.

New York, July 9.—The burglars who murdered Mrs. George Staber, wife of a paper importer, in their Flatbush (L. I.) home, when attacked by her son, were captured last night because they were no shoes. One who was wounded has confessed that he fired the fatal shot.

The men admitted that they were implicated in the burglary, but at first denied any part in the murder. They say they are Carlo Giro, born in Trieste, Austria, and "John Smith." The latter speaks with a strong German accent and was the one wounded. He was operated upon and it is said he may not live.

Confesses to Murder.

He admitted, the police say, that it was a bullet from his pistol, discharged in a struggle with Mrs. Staber's son, George, that killed her.

Giro was picked up first after the burglary while trying to beg or buy a pair of shoes to replace those which he had removed while entering the house. Smith was found hidden under a bush, bleeding, about a mile from the Staber house. Two pairs of shoes found by the Stabers on their front steps, the men acknowledged were theirs. George Staber, a son, has identified both men as those who entered the house.

Mrs. Staber was shot dead at two o'clock in the morning while standing in her bedroom door. Her husband, who was trying to draw her back into their room, thought she had fainted and did not realize she had been mortally wounded until a physician was called. The bullet struck her in the shoulder and, deflected by the bone, ranged downward through one lung and the vital organs.

Women in a Panic.

The shrieks of Mrs. Staber and her two daughters, the reports of revolver shots and the excitement of the chase by mounted police and nearly the whole neighborhood threw Flatbush into a ferment, many wives plucked with their husbands not to go to work. There has been comment ever the fact that the burglary followed immediately upon the withdrawal of the police dogs from that vicinity.

Mr. Staber was the first to be awakened by the burglars by the flash of an electric pocket lamp, carried by one of the men.

"Who are you?" he demanded. "Keep quiet and we won't hurt you," came the answer; "we want your money."

The dialogue awakened Mrs. Staber who became uncontrollably frightened. She began to shriek at the top of her voice. The burglar withdrew to the hall but the mother's cries had aroused her son, George, 20 years old. As he stepped from his door, a man struck at him in the darkness, missed and stumbled downstairs. At the same instant he saw the second burglar, grappled with him and fought him into the bathroom. In the struggle the burglar managed with his free hand to draw a pistol. Then began an even fiercer fight for the pistol.

Bullet Sets Man on Fire.

Meantime Mrs. Staber was standing in the doorway, screaming, not heeding her husband's attempts to pull her into the room. Young Staber succeeded in keeping the muzzle of the burglar's gun away from him but it was nevertheless discharged. Two shots went wild, the third cut the drawstring of his pajamas, set the cloth on fire and, though not wounded, killed his mother. Just as young Staber finally got control of the pistol the burglar wrenched loose. Staber chased him down the stairs, firing as he ran. Two shots evidently took effect, but the last two cartridges misfired and the burglars temporarily escaped.

KIDNAPING CAPITAL CRIME.

Congressman Rodenberg of Illinois
Introduces Death Penalty Bill.

Washington, July 9.—Kidnapers and abductors in the District of Columbia will take their lives and liberty in their own hands should a bill introduced by Representative Rodenberg of Illinois become a law.

For kidnapers, where the object is ransom, the penalty is death or life imprisonment, while life imprisonment is to be meted out to kidnapers of children under the age of 12 years for the purposes of concealing their prey. The measure has been transmitted to the commissioners of the district for their consideration and report.

New Law for Bank Loans.

AN AUSTRIAN PIANO-VIOLIN.

New Musical Instrument Sounds Like Violin, Played Like Piano, and Looks Like a Harp.

From Austria-Hungary, whence come so many things musical, comes a new musical instrument which is known as the piano-violin. It looks like a harp, sounds like a violin and is played like a piano. As shown in the cut the upper portion of the instrument consists of a series of strings each of which is operated by one of the keys on the piano keyboard.

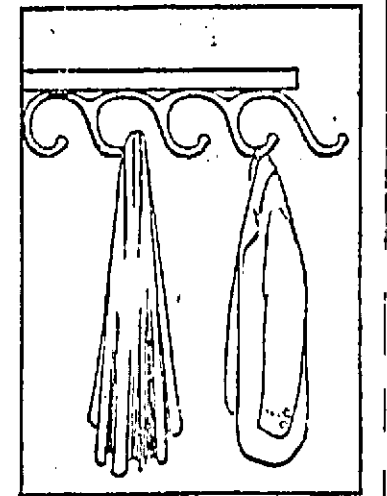

Strings Meet the Bow.

Across these strings runs a traveling band which performs the functions of a bow, except that in the case of this instrument the strings come out to meet the bow instead of the bow moving back and forth from the strings. Each string is attached to a pivoted arm and as the key is struck the arm moves outward and the string comes in contact with the traveling band, producing the sound of a bow scraping a fiddle string. A spring pulls the arm back into place when the pressure on the key is relieved and a pedal at the bottom of the instrument regulates the sound.

PLENTY OF CLOTHES HOOKS.

Recent Invention Makes Use of Valuable Space That Formerly Was Wasted.

Why is it so much valuable space in a wardrobe goes to waste? Householders are continually at a loss to find sufficient space in wardrobes and closets in which to hang their garments. Generally this is not because the closet is not large enough, but simply because the garment hooks are not arranged economically. An Ohio inventor has devised an excellent arrangement of the hooks, as shown in the accompanying illustration. Instead of placing each hook in singly, he ranges five in a row, each hook directly behind the other. All five are cant from a single piece of metal, and are readily secured to the top of the wardrobe. These hooks thus make it possible to utilize every possible bit of space in the wardrobe.

Making Ribbons of Metals.

Not least interesting of accidental discoveries is the new method of rapidly converting metals into ribbon form, which was hit upon by Mr. Gilbert, a British chemist, while seeking some way of making white lead without handling. The molten metal is dropped upon a rapidly revolving drum filled with cold water, and from the surface of the drum it shoots out at the rate of 20 miles an hour as delicate silver ribbon, 500,000 of an inch thick, so cooled that it can be caught in the hand. In this way metal ribbon can be produced at an expense of $5 or $10 a ton, or perhaps a twentieth of the cost of making zinc turnings by the old method. Numerous applications are expected, as ribbons of lead will take the place of lead shavings or turnings for packing joints and bearings and other purposes, zinc ribbon will probably be useful in the cyanide treatment of gold ores, and in chemical industries various metals will be brought into solution more quickly when first made into ribbon form.

Preservative Treatment for Timber.

It is estimated that a fence post, which under ordinary circumstances will last for perhaps two years, will, if given preservative treatment costing about ten cents, last 18 years. The service of other timbers, such as railroad ties, telephone poles and mine props, can be doubled and often trebled by inexpensive preservative treatment. To-day, when the cost of wood is a big item to every farmer, every stockman, every railroad manager—to every one, in fact, who must use timber where it is likely to decay—this is a fact which should be carefully considered.—Scientific American.

MR. TOO-CAREFUL

TOO MUCH FOR HIM.

"No, I don't want it," replied the country merchant to the agent who was trying to sell him a typewriter. "I had one in my store for three months and it gave me so much trouble that I had to get rid of it."

"Did you try to run it yourself?" was asked.

"Well, no. I had a girl from the city who knew all about it."

"Perhaps you couldn't operate your letters. Some folks had it very hard work."

"I didn't try to. I sat down and wrote them out and let the girl copy them. I didn't save no time there. Then I had to read them over and see if they were correct. Then I had to talk with her and see that she didn't get lonesome and quit her job. Then, a dozen times a day, I had to throw young fellows out of the store, young fellows that had come there to flirt with the girl. Then every old widower for 10 miles around came in and made her an offer of marriage, and when she turned them down I had to run 'em across to the saloon to show my sympathy."

"Anything more?" smiled the agent.

"Just a little. My mother-in-law was indignant, my sister and all through and my wife sitting around the store for seven hours on a stretch, and after the minister had given me the cold shoulder and the Masonic lodge threatened to bring charges against me, I let the poor girl go and sold the machine for half price. It was too much of a strain on the mind. You can do those things in the city and no one says a word, but out here it's 20 years too soon, and you've got to heed public opinion or lose your place in the fire company."

The Straws Show the Way the Wind Blows

One of our subscribers recently ordered The Gazette discontinued because a certain article had been printed which was not to her credit. We were sorry to lose her as a subscriber, but mentioned the fact that The Gazette was a NEWS paper and that unless we printed all the news of the day we would fail in our first duty. Her feelings were wounded, however, and she would not continue her subscription. A month later our Circulator happened to be in her neighborhood and called, thinking perhaps that Time, the great healer, had healed the wound and that she would renew her subscription. He was right. The subscription was renewed and here is her reason for taking the Gazette in her own words:

"I want the Gazette because it is the only paper that carries the advertising of all the merchants. I more than save the cost of the paper every month, by buying advertised articles."

This is but a single instance, though we hear similar expressions every little while.

Washington, D. C. Thomas, president of the American Sugar Refining Company, at top; Adolph Seal, head of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, below.

New York.—The indictment returned against eight of the officers and lawyers connected with the alleged sugar trust started the government machinery in motion after weeks of investigation. The indictments charge a violation of the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law, making it a misdemeanor to engage in a conspiracy to restrain trade and commerce.

The men indicted are charged with being involved in the loan of $1,250,000 made to Adolph Seal of Philadelphia. This loan resulted, it is alleged, in the elimination of the latter's Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company as a competitor of the sugar trust.

Washington, D. C. Thomas, president of the American Sugar Refining Company, has been president of the sugar trust since the death of H. O. Havens two years ago. Previously he was treasurer of the company. He has long been rated as a multimillionaire. His home is in London. He is a golf enthusiast and has been president of the United States Golf association.

STAMPING TUBERCULOSIS OUT OF MASSACHUSETTS FACTORIES.
Dr. Melvin G. Overlock, state medical inspector for the district embracing the County of Worcester, Mass.

Worcester, Mass.—A movement originated by Dr. Melvin G. Overlock, and backed by 25 big manufacturing concerns in Worcester county, Mass., to stamp out tuberculosis, afforded one of the most tangible evidences of the success of the national campaign against the white plague. Under the direction of State Medical Inspector Overlock, a systematic effort is being carried on. The manufacturer, having signed an agreement guaranteeing free treatment in the state sanatorium for not less than three months to any employee found suffering from tuberculosis. Meetings are held, literature issued and instructions given in every possible way that may help teach the individual worker to take care of his health.

LAW SUIT STIRS PORTLAND SOCIETY.
Mrs. Beatrice Hill Gadsby and baby.

Portland, Ore.—Through a suit filed in circuit court here this week, Portland society has been set agog to a tremendous extent. Mrs. Beatrice Hill Gadsby has sued her father-in-law, William Gadsby, and his wife, Nellie Gadsby, all of them prominent society lights, for $200,000, for breaking up her home. She tells a tale of mother-in-law that has roused both sympathy and indignation.

When Walter Gadsby married Beatrice Hill April 2, 1907, life looked bright to them and for them. The roses bloomed outwardly, at least, till September 16, 1908, when Walter mysteriously disappeared. His family said he had gone to Mexico, that he would travel for a year, and would visit far countries before he came home. The beautiful house they had furnished was stripped and the furniture taken back to the Gadsby store, whence it came, and the young woman went back to her father to live. Soon a little baby was born, but the father did not return, nor has he yet. Later a divorce was readily secured by Mrs. Gadsby on grounds of desertion. Portland gossip and wonder, for the Gadsbys are prominent folk here.

In this suit against Gadsby, Sr., the young woman gives out the reason of all the trouble. Two such mother-in-laws in the same house, she says, she could not stand. She says the older Mrs. Gadsby was fond of her, but she wanted all of Walter's affection for herself. She alleged the parents conspired in every way to get their son to leave his wife, by him being humiliated by promises of pecuniary advantage, even by suing on her behalf. That they were successful, she declares.

"And yet I have Walter and would come to him if he came back," says the heartbroken young woman.

Three Meals for Six Cents.
The grand jury at Greensburg, Pa., the other day recommended that the amount paid to the sheriff for the daily food supply of prisoners in the jail be cut from 12½ cents to 6 cents for each prisoner. The daily portion for each prisoner is one loaf of bread, two cups of coffee and one bowl of soup, with meat once a week. The grand jury says: "We believe the same can be served at a cost not to exceed six cents."

FIRST CAR HERE TO ADVERTISE CIRCUS

Barnum & Bailey's Show Here on July 30th—Has Parade This Year.
R. M. Felton, one of the press representatives of the Barnum & Bailey circus, arrived in Janesville this morning with the advance car of the advertising department. The circus itself is to follow on July 30 and according to Mr. Felton, is the same old show it was years ago when it was the greatest show on earth and gave the biggest parade. Since the Ringling Bros. have owned the circus they have improved it very much and have made the parade one of the features. There are many former Janesville men among them "Johnny" Williams, who has charge of the horses for the Ringlings. In speaking of the circus, Mr. Felton said:

"The coming of a big circus is always looked upon with an interest that is unusual and the realization of the high standard of excellence that they have attained, appeals strongly to every American. Probably the most important reason for this is in the fact that the circus is strictly an American institution. No European country can boast of the big tented amusement institutions that we have in this country. True enough they have their circus companies, but the largest one ever there is about the size of one of our little one-act affairs."

"When the Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth made their tour of that country, few believed that they were to see a circus half the size that was being advertised, and when the exhibition finally came with its tremendous equipment and wonderful system applied in its handling, they simply stood back in open-mouthed wonder. No doubt a great many of our English friends, missed seeing the circus altogether, for by the time that they were over their amazement the big show had been there and gone. In this country, we have had each year, what is thought must be the limit in size for a big show, but now comes Barnum & Bailey, with a whole train of cars more than have ever been carried before. With the re-establishment of the street parade this year, it was necessary to add this extra train and there are actually eighty-five cars now being hauled each day from one exhibition stand to the other."

"Upon the five trains that it takes to haul the Barnum & Bailey circus, they are bringing to this city, 700 horses of the finest breed, 20 elephants, a whole caravan of camels and dromedaries, a family of giant giraffes and a menagerie of other strange beasts and birds, displayed in 35 beautiful cages and dens."

"Under the largest tent ever constructed, a circus performance is given by a company of nearly 400 performers and most of these are from abroad. They are presenting an all new program of foreign novelties that have not been shown before in this country and the list of performers contains the names of the most noted of European riders, acrobats and aerialists."

"A big feature of this year's program and one that is creating the most talk, is that of Jupiter, the balloon horse. This beautiful horse upon which is seated a young lady driver, takes his place upon a small platform attached to a balloon which slowly rises to the highest point in the dome of the big circus tent. At this moment a hundred rockets are exploded, which completely envelop both horse and rider in a shower of fire and sparks. Through it all, this brave animal stands like a statue, for the slightest movement on his part would mean his destruction as well as that of his young rider. The descent is made in a blaze of fire, when horse and mount ride safely out of the arena."

"Doegegrin," a young Frenchman, presents an original thriller in his daring leap for life. This young man jumps from a platform in the dome of the tent and alights upon his chest upon a small curved saddle. The very simplicity of this act of daring as well as the absence of any mechanical effects, all adds to it as a nerve-racking exhibition."

"In replacing the long-omitted street parade this year, Barnum & Bailey are presenting a professional display that is so tremendous in size, so gorgeous and elaborate in its equipment, that in no way can it be compared with the parades seen in the past. In the four years when no parade was given, that time was devoted to the development of new ideas for this season's street spectacle."

FREAK CONTEST AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Games Committee Has Arranged a Unique Match for Tuesday Next—No Profanity Will Be Allowed.

As a substitute for the handicap match for golf balls which was to take place at the links next Tuesday, the St. Joseph's games committee has arranged a "freak contest" for which an entrance fee of twenty-five cents will be charged. Medal score and no handicaps are the conditions. The contestants will drive off at No. 8 and the course will be as follows: In the bunker at No. 7; hole out at No. 5; drive off at No. 6; enter "Grant's sun-bath"; hole out at No. 9; drive off at No. 3; in the bunker at No. 2; proceed to putting green through a barrel and around the putting green. If a ball falls on any putting green it must be lifted off with a penalty of one stroke. The flight will start at two o'clock and it is expected that the contest will be made in not less than 200 strokes. No profanity will be tolerated.

New York and Philadelphia cannot be more pleasantly or conveniently reached than by the Grand Trunk-Lake Erie Valley double track route via Niagara Falls. Solid through trains of coaches and sleeping cars. Magnificent scenery.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"SOME people insist," said the pretty kindergarten lady to me, "that a good deal you hear of city children's not knowing anything about the country is exaggerated."

"And is it?" I asked.

"The pretty kindergarten lady teaches in the slums of one of our great cities and, as she has a very warm heart for her poor little babies, I knew what the answer would be, but I wanted to see her eyes snap."

"They did. 'Do you think I exaggerate?' she inquired indignantly. I immediately began to protest my firm belief in her truthfulness."

"Because if you don't," she went on rather ignoring my elaborate protestations, "I'll tell you some of the things that have happened in my school and maybe you can write about them."

"Two weeks ago I took a little Hebrew girl that I was interested in on a trip out into the country. Before she came to America she lived in Russia on a farm and they had a cow. In the two years she has been in this country, she has never once—once," emphasized the kindergarten lady with an extra snap of her eyes, "been out into the country. If I didn't believe she told me the truth about it I'd know by what happened. For when the train went by a pasture with a cow in it, what do you think she said? 'Mine cow from Russia, Mine cow from Russia.' The poor little thing hadn't seen a cow since she came to the United States and she thought hers was the only one in the world."

"Another time when we read a story about a butterfly I didn't happen to have any picture so I described one as well as I could. I said it had a long thin body and some great big wings. A little while before Thanksgiving I took the children down to the markets as we do once a year. The little boy who had been especially interested in what I said about butterflies pulled my dress. 'Teacher,' he said, 'you teacher. Is that a butterfly over there?' I looked and it was a plucked turkey hanging up with its wings spread out—a long thin body and great big wings, you see."

The little kindergarten lady's voice had a queer tremor in it and I looked up in surprise.

"I was going to take him out this summer to see some real butterflies, but he isn't here any more," she explained.

Then brushing aside the tears very hastily, for the pretty kindergarten lady is a bit afraid of having her warm heart laughed at,—

"You'll write about it and say that there are lots of city children that don't know anything about the country and that the stories about them aren't exaggerated a bit and that if people would help to get them out into the country instead of being so unbelieveing it would be beautiful," she begged.

"I certainly will," I promised. So I have.

SAYS BELoit GIRL CAUSED HIS ARREST

Deserter From United States Army Admits He Took French Leave From Post.

When Walter H. Remington was arrested at the Northland hotel, in Chicago, under the name of W. Howard Allen yesterday on charges of deserting from the United States army at Fort Russell, Wyo., on June 7, he blamed Edna Louise Benney of Beloit, Wis., reputed to have been a friend he wanted notified in case of death. "Another young woman who was with him, declared she would stick by him to the last. Remington admitted the charge, declaring he deserted because a sergeant 'who thought of nothing but his bible and religion' had him reduced from corporal to the ranks. He probably will be taken to Fort Russell for court martial."

PLANTING CROP IN VARIOUS SECTIONS

Weather Has Been Ideal For This Work—Many Crops Entirely In Already.

While this has been one of the driest seasons for handling the old crops of tobacco the farmers still have faith in the weed and are busy putting their new crop into the ground. In several sections of the country the crops are already in and almost planted. The stand promises to be a good one and the outlook for a good crop this year is excellent. The Edgerton Reporter in discussing the situation says: Cooler weather has prevailed during the week, giving the newly transplanted tobacco a chance to take a good strong root so that but little retreating has been necessary. The earlier fields have a good start now and are making fine progress, averaging well with that of other years at this date. A few isolated growers are closing up, and generally speaking the intended acreage is now standing in the fields. The loss of plants from the ravage of cut worms is below the normal."

The market for cured leaf remains practically unchanged. Business is still conducted on the line of a hand-to-mouth policy with manufacturers, whose orders are for fractions of hundreds of cases now, which heretofore embraced packings. Thus while there is a moderate selling by local makers all the time, transactions seldom reach a magnitude they care to report. The opinion of many connected with the trade is that with the tariff settled business would commence to get back nearer a normal basis.

The shipments out of storage reach 934 cases from this market to all points for the week past.

CO. SCHOOL BOARD CONVENTION TODAY

Clerks and Members From Each District in County Gathered at the High School.

This morning at half-past nine school board clerks and members of the school boards from all over the county began to arrive at the high school building for the first annual school board convention embracing all of the districts in Rock county. Heretofore, each of the two districts have had their conventions separately, and the meeting this year is sort of an innovation, under the new regime of one school superintendent in charge of the entire county.

The session began this morning with the session and will close this afternoon. As the farmers are quite busy just at present, the attendance was not quite as large as was to be expected, but between two hundred and fifty and three hundred of the representatives of the county school boards were present. The clerk of each school district, of which there are about one hundred and seventy in the county, is required by law to be present at such conventions, while members of the board may attend. For each day's attendance an officer of a district is paid two dollars and mileage at the rate of three cents for every mile necessarily traveled to attend.

Among the topics of interest which were scheduled for discussion were the new school law of the state, W. E. Larson, state rural school inspector, was present and gave an address containing many helpful hints, before the meeting. The program of the day was as follows:

9:30 a. m. Questions, discussion and enrollment.
10:00 "Compulsory Attendance," by S. C. Burdham.
10:30 "Whence and Whither," by Supt. C. H. Hendrickson.
11:00 "Higher Standards for Rural Schools," by Principal J. E. Whitford.
11:30 "New School Laws," by Supt. O. D. Anttila, with general discussion.
1:30 p. m. Questions and discussion.
1:45 Annual reports considered.
2:15 School libraries.
2:30 "The Relation of Education to the Development of the State," by Inspector W. E. Larson.

A number of teachers, numbering fifty in all, with those who have been teaching and those who desired to begin in the fall, were at the convention. Many of the experienced ones agreed to go back to the district in which they have been teaching, while others will labor in new fields.

SURPRISED FRIENDS SPRANG A SURPRISE

Friends of L. E. Barnum Aroused Him and His Bride to Go to Party.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Oxfordville, July 8.—It was a great surprise to many when L. E. Barnum, the photographer, arrived on Thursday of last week with his bride. Nearly every one supposed Mr. Barnum had gone to Mt. Rush to take pictures, and while he did take pictures there he had other business too. Friends planned and carried out a very pleasant surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Barnum on Friday evening in the form of a miscellaneous shower. About thirty gathered at the Elms studio, where the newly-married couple were aroused out of a sound sleep. From there they all went to the M. E. church where several had gathered. Refreshments were served and Mr. and Mrs. Barnum received many useful gifts. A fine time is reported by all.

Miss Jeanette Tollefson has been quite sick, but is now improving rapidly.

Miss Alice Clithero of Janesville was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Taylor on Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Howard on Friday, July 24, a daughter, Clark Cleveland of Spring Grove spent Sunday with his parents.

P. N. Satriang has his large basement barn nearly completed. Master Earl Carver of Beloit is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carver.

T. H. Minard of Stoughton called on friends in the village on Wednesday.

J. J. Richardson of Davenport was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Taylor on Sunday.

M. K. Hamblitt and family spent Sunday with his aunt, Mrs. Lana Ross of Broadhead.

Dave Rosetter is drilling a well for T. A. Tollefson.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cochran of Janesville visited over-Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dunn, George Reynolds of Janesville is working for a while on the Brown Dossie farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Huff of Evansville were the guests of J. L. Hamblitt and family on Sunday.

John Laekner and family enjoyed a visit the first of the week with his mother, Mrs. Andrew Bechtel of Brownstown.

Mrs. Leta Ross of Broadhead and Lib Clapp of Albany spent last Friday at M. K. Hamblitt's.

Miss Hazel Taylor is spending a few days with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Taylor of Janesville.

Mrs. H. C. Taylor spent a couple of days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Susie Haman, near Beloit.

W. P. Gavey and Albert Keesey arrived home on Wednesday from Smithersville, Ill., where the boys erected a house that Mr. Gavey took to build for a land company.

The Misses Eva and Hazel Setzer, Mildred Dunn and Vera Mowse attended a party on Gladys Butler of Janesville on Monday evening.

Mrs. Chas. Egan of Plymouth spent Wednesday at J. Fairbairn's of India. Mrs. Fairbairn is reported quite sick with influenza pneumonia.

Misses Rosa and Emma Marty of Monroe visited at Fred Schumann's, the first of the week.

T. A. Tollefson has a new monster engine purchased of Andrew Thomson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Capron of Beloit spent Friday and Monday with Mrs. Capron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hamblitt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stiff of Broadhead are visiting their daughter, Mrs. John Laekner.

H. J. Taylor returned home on Monday after spending several days with his daughter, Mrs. Mabel Crum of Lewiston, Idaho. He also spent a few days at Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. He reports a pleasant trip.

J. T. Laekner left on Thursday for Miles City, Montana, where he has accepted a position as foreman on the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound extension. Mr. Shultz of Monticello has taken Mr. Laekner's place here.

TO CALL HALT ON SPEEDING AUTOS

Police Have Received Numerous Complaints From Residents of Milton Avenue And Will Watch Thoroughfare.

Residents of Milton avenue have called the attention of the police department to the general disregard of the speed limit on the part of automobilists who traverse that thoroughfare. It is claimed that the machines are driven at a fast and dangerous clip in that locality and that narrow escapes from serious accidents have been frequent and are increasing in number. Chief Appleby and his men will endeavor to obtain evidence against the lawless drivers and put a stop to the practice, not only on that highway, but elsewhere in the city.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"Mr. Bowles, who had lived in Japan for sixteen years, was a thoroughly slow Englishman, with the curve of the chin still growing upon him. He was half asleep quite a good bit of the time and wholly asleep during the remainder."

"Everything is transferred by hand, my lord, and the chateau is two miles farther up the side of the mountain. It's quite a walk, sir."

"Do you mean to say we are to walk?"

"Yes, my lord, if you expect to go there."

"Of course you expect to go there. Are there no horses on the beauty island?"

"Hundreds, my lord, but they belong to the people, and no one but their owners ride them. The servants at the chateau turned Mr. Skaggs' horses out to pasture before they left."

"Before they left?"

"The servants, my lord."

Lady Deppingham's eyes grew wide with understanding. "You don't mean to say that the servants have left the place?" she cried.

"Yes, my lady. They were natives, you know."

"What's that got to do with it?" demanded Deppingham.

"I'm afraid you don't understand the situation," said Mr. Bowles patiently. "You see, it's really a triangular controversy, if I may be so bold as to say so. Lady Deppingham is one of the angles; Mr. Bowles, the American gentleman, is another; the native population is the last. Each wants to be the hypotenuse. While the interests of all three are merged in the real issue, there is nevertheless a decided disposition all around to make it an entirely one-sided affair."

"I don't believe I grasp," muttered Deppingham blankly.

"I see perfectly," exclaimed his wife. "The natives are allied against us, just as we are, in a way, against them and Mr. Bowles. Really, it seems quite natural, doesn't it, dear?" turning to her husband.

"Very likely, but very unfortunate. It leaves us to broil our brains out down here on this pier. I say, Mr. or—old chap, can't you possibly engage some sort of transportation for us? Really, you know, we can't stand here all day."

"I've no doubt I can arrange it, my lord. If you will just wait here until I run back to the bank I dare say I'll find a way. Perhaps you'd prefer standing under the awning until I return."

It was fully half an hour before he was seen coming down the street, followed by a score or more of natives, their dirty white robes flapping about their brown legs. At first they could not believe it was Bowles. Lord Deppingham had a sharp thrill of joy, but it was short lived. Bowles had changed at least a portion of his garb. He now wore the tight red jacket of the British trooper, while an ancient army cap was strapped jauntily over his ear.

"It's all right, my lord," he said, smiling as he came up. "They will do anything I tell 'em to do when I represent the British army. This is the only uniform on the island, but they've been taught that there are more where this one came from. These fellows will carry your boxes up to the chateau, sixpence to the man. If you please, sir, and I've sent for two carts to draw your party up the slope. They'll be here in a jiffy, my lady. Then, turning majestically to the hat-dressed natives, he waved his slender stick and said: "Lively now! No loafing! Lively!"

Whereupon the entire collection of boxes, bags and bundles figuratively picked itself up and walked off in the direction of the chateau.

CHAPTER VI.

THE CHATEAU.

THE road to the chateau took its devious way through the little town out into the green foothills beyond. Two lumbering wooden wheeled carts, none too clean, each drawn by four perspiring men, served as conveyances by which the arrivals were to make the journey to their new home.

Lady Deppingham's pert little nose lifted itself in disgust as she was joggled through the town behind the grunting substitutes for horseflesh. She sat beside her husband in the foremost cart. Mr. Bowles, very tired, but quite resplendent, walked outflank-ing her. The natives, who had been picked up by the cart drivers, were now being loaded into the carts. The scene was a curious one, and the natives looked on with interest.

"Most of the islanders have got three or four wives already," said Mr. Bowles, looking at the natives with a smile.

"You mean to say that they can have as many wives as they choose?" demanded Saunders, wrinkling his brow.

"Yes, just so long as they don't choose anybody else's."

"My word!"

"Elph!" quivered Bowles, arousing himself.

"I didn't say anything," retorted Saunders, looking up into the tracery. Standing out against the sky fully a mile ahead was the home to which they were going. The chateau, beautiful as a picture, lifted itself like a dream castle above all that was earthly and sordid. It nestled down from its lofty terrace and glistened in the sunset glow like the jewel that had been its godmother.

According to its own records, the chateau, fashioned quite closely after a famous structure in France, was designed and built by La Marche, the ill-fated French architect who was lost at sea in the wreck of the Vendôme.

Three years and more than £700,000—to make it seem more prodigious, nearly 18,000,000 francs—were consumed in its building.

Apartment for a king abounded. Suites which took one back to the luxuries of Marie Antoinette were common. Banquet halls, ballrooms, reception halls, a chapel and even a crypt were to be found if one undertook a voyage of discovery.

Lord and Lady Deppingham, being first in the field, at once proceeded to settle themselves in the choicest rooms—a Henry VI. suite, which looked out on the sea and the town as well. It is said that Wyckholme slept there twice, while Skaggs looked in perhaps half a dozen times—when he was lost in the building and trying to find his way back to familiar haunts.

There was not a sign of a servant about the house or grounds. "The men whom Bowles had engaged carried the luggage to the rooms which Lady Deppingham selected and then vanished as if into space."

"They say these Americans are a wonderful people, my lord," ventured Mr. Bowles. "I dare say when Mr. and Mrs. Bowles arrive they'll have some way of it."

"Browne!" cried her ladyship. "This very evening I shall give orders concerning the rooms they are to occupy. I suppose, however, that the rooms we have taken are the best?"

"The choicest, my lady," said Bowles, bowing.

"See here, Mr.—er—old chap, don't you think you can induce the servants to come back to us? By Jove, I'll make it worth your while."

"What are we to do?" wailed Lady Agnes, sitting down suddenly upon the edge of a fountain.

"You see, my lady, they take the position that you have no right here," said Mr. Bowles, looking at her with a smile.

"I should think they'd be terribly tempted," said Lady Agnes. "They look so wretchedly poor."

"My lady," said Bowles, "there are but four poor men on the island—myself and the three Englishmen who operate the bank. There isn't a poor man, woman or child among the natives. This is truly a land of rich men. The superintendent of the mines is a white man—a German—and the three foremen are loaves. They work on shares, just as the natives do, and have even more, I think. The clerical force is entirely native. There were but ten white men here before you came, including two Greeks. Being part owners, the natives have decided that four hours constitute a day's work. They pay themselves accordingly, as it were. No one works after midday, sir."

"I say, wouldn't this be a paradise for the English workman?" said Deppingham. "That's the kind of day's labor they'd like. Do you mean to say that these fellows trudge eight miles to work every morning and back again at noon?"

"Certainly not, sir. They ride their thoroughbred horses to work and ride them back again."

"You take my breath away," said the other, lapsing into a stunned silence.

"The road had become so steep and laborious by this time that Bowles was very glad to forego the pleasure of talking. He fell back with Mr. Saunders and proceeded to give the inquisitive lawyer's clerk all the late news of the island.

The inhabitants of Japan had been prompt to protect themselves in a legal sense. They had engaged the services of eminent solicitors in London, who were to represent them in the final settlement of the estate. London was to be the battleground in the coming conflict. A committee of three had journeyed to England to put the matter in the hands of these lawyers and were now returning to the island with a representative of the firm, who was coming out to stand guard, so to speak. Von Blitz, the German superintendent, was the master mind in the native contingent. The absent committee was composed of Ben Adl, Abdallah Ben Sabbat and Kusula, the Arab lawyer. They were truly wise men from the east—old, shrewd, crafty and begotten of Mohammed.

The mines continued to be operated as usual pending the arrival of the executors' representative, who, as we know, was now on the ground in the person of Thomas Saunders. The fact that he also served as legal adviser to Lady Deppingham was not of sufficient moment to disturb the arrangements on either side.

As for the American heir, Robert Browne, he had not yet arrived. He was coming by steamer from the west, according to report, and was probably on the Bowwell, Sumatra to Madagascar, due off Ararat in two or three days.

"The islanders," said Mr. Bowles, lighting a cigarette, "it looks to me, have all the best of the situation. They get the property whether they marry or not, while the original beneficiaries have to marry each other or get off the island at the end of the year. Most of the islanders have got three or four wives already."

"You mean to say that they can have as many wives as they choose?" demanded Saunders, wrinkling his brow.

"Yes, just so long as they don't choose anybody else's."

"My word!"

The mines continued to be operated as usual pending the arrival of the executors' representative, who, as we know, was now on the ground in the person of Thomas Saunders. The fact that he also served as legal adviser to Lady Deppingham was not of sufficient moment to disturb the arrangements on either side.

As for the American heir, Robert Browne, he had not yet arrived. He was coming by steamer from the west, according to report, and was probably on the Bowwell, Sumatra to Madagascar, due off Ararat in two or three days.

"The islanders," said Mr. Bowles, lighting a cigarette, "it looks to me, have all the best of the situation. They get the property whether they marry or not, while the original beneficiaries have to marry each other or get off the island at the end of the year. Most of the islanders have got three or four wives already."

"You mean to say that they can have as many wives as they choose?" demanded Saunders, wrinkling his brow.

"Yes, just so long as they don't choose anybody else's."

"My word!"

"Elph!" quivered Bowles, arousing himself.

"I didn't say anything," retorted Saunders, looking up into the tracery. Standing out against the sky fully a mile ahead was the home to which they were going. The chateau, beautiful as a picture, lifted itself like a dream castle above all that was earthly and sordid. It nestled down from its lofty terrace and glistened in the sunset glow like the jewel that had been its godmother.

According to its own records, the chateau, fashioned quite closely after a famous structure in France, was designed and built by La Marche, the ill-fated French architect who was lost at sea in the wreck of the Vendôme.

Three years and more than £700,000—to make it seem more prodigious, nearly 18,000,000 francs—were consumed in its building.

Apartment for a king abounded. Suites which took one back to the luxuries of Marie Antoinette were common. Banquet halls, ballrooms, reception halls, a chapel and even a crypt were to be found if one undertook a voyage of discovery.

Lord and Lady Deppingham, being first in the field, at once proceeded to settle themselves in the choicest rooms—a Henry VI. suite, which looked out on the sea and the town as well. It is said that Wyckholme slept there twice, while Skaggs looked in perhaps half a dozen times—when he was lost in the building and trying to find his way back to familiar haunts.

There was not a sign of a servant about the house or grounds. "The men whom Bowles had engaged carried the luggage to the rooms which Lady Deppingham selected and then vanished as if into space."

"They say these Americans are a wonderful people, my lord," ventured Mr. Bowles. "I dare say when Mr. and Mrs. Bowles arrive they'll have some way of it."

"Browne!" cried her ladyship. "This very evening I shall give orders concerning the rooms they are to occupy. I suppose, however, that the rooms we have taken are the best?"

"The choicest, my lady," said Bowles, bowing.

"See here, Mr.—er—old chap, don't you think you can induce the servants to come back to us? By Jove, I'll make it worth your while."

"What are we to do?" wailed Lady Agnes, sitting down suddenly upon the edge of a fountain.

"You see, my lady, they take the position that you have no right here," said Mr. Bowles, looking at her with a smile.

"I should think they'd be terribly tempted," said Lady Agnes. "They look so wretchedly poor."

"My lady," said Bowles, "there are but four poor men on the island—myself and the three Englishmen who operate the bank. There isn't a poor man, woman or child among the natives. This is truly a land of rich men. The superintendent of the mines is a white man—a German—and the three foremen are loaves. They work on shares, just as the natives do, and have even more, I think. The clerical force is entirely native. There were but ten white men here before you came, including two Greeks. Being part owners, the natives have decided that four hours constitute a day's work. They pay themselves accordingly, as it were. No one works after midday, sir."

"I say, wouldn't this be a paradise for the English workman?" said Deppingham. "That's the kind of day's labor they'd like. Do you mean to say that these fellows trudge eight miles to work every morning and back again at noon?"

"Certainly not, sir. They ride their thoroughbred horses to work and ride them back again."

"You take my breath away," said the other, lapsing into a stunned silence.

"The road had become so steep and laborious by this time that Bowles was very glad to forego the pleasure of talking. He fell back with Mr. Saunders and proceeded to give the inquisitive lawyer's clerk all the late news of the island.

The inhabitants of Japan had been prompt to protect themselves in a legal sense. They had engaged the services of eminent solicitors in London, who were to represent them in the final settlement of the estate. London was to be the battleground in the coming conflict. A committee of three had journeyed to England to put the matter in the hands of these lawyers and were now returning to the island with a representative of the firm, who was coming out to stand guard, so to speak. Von Blitz, the German superintendent, was the master mind in the native contingent. The absent committee was composed of Ben Adl, Abdallah Ben Sabbat and Kusula, the Arab lawyer. They were truly wise men from the east—old, shrewd, crafty and begotten of Mohammed.

The mines continued to be operated as usual pending the arrival of the executors' representative, who, as we know, was now on the ground in the person of Thomas Saunders. The fact that he also served as legal adviser to Lady Deppingham was not of sufficient moment to disturb the arrangements on either side.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott.

Paul's Second Missionary Journey.—The Philippian Jailor. Acts xvi:16-40. Golden Text—Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved. Acts xvi:31.

Verses 16-21—In what class do you place those who profit by the sins of fallen women?

This young woman was possessed with a very clever spirit of evil, an all round spirit of deception, including fortune telling; now wherein did her sin consist, and that of her owners?

Which are the more to be blamed in these days, fortune tellers or their willing dupes?

When had men are losing the gains of their evil occupation, are they apt to be careful of the truth, when they are after the good men who have destroyed their business? For example the liquor dealers.

Verses 22—What made the multitude so angry at Paul and Silas, and is any reliance ever to be placed upon the excited attitude of a large crowd?

Do religious differences still make the people hate one another?

Does worldly gain, to-day play any part in religious intolerance?

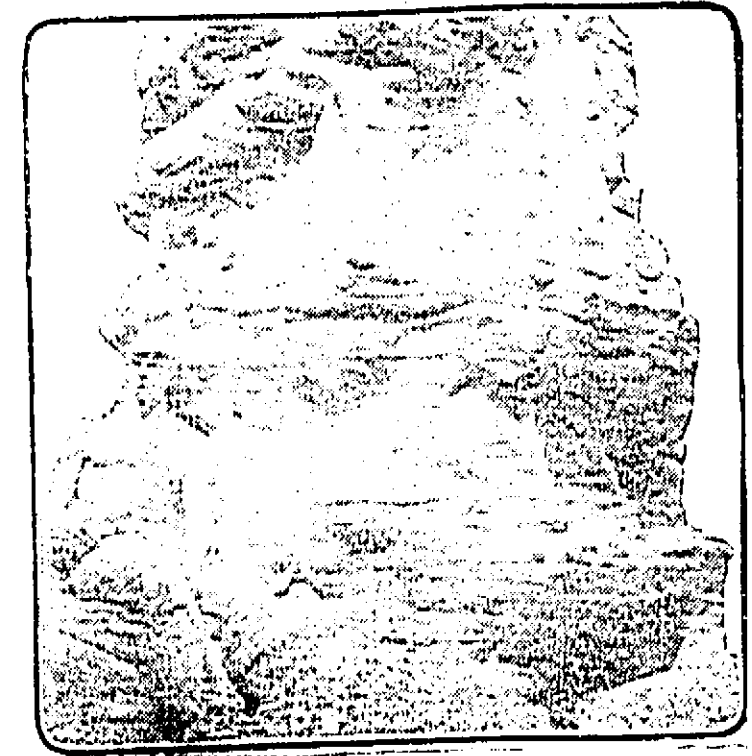

Verses 23—Why did God permit such cruelty to his faithful servants?

Why is it that godly people often have to go through very exquisite suffering?

Verses 24—Say why it is possible for any good man in prison, lying upon a raw back, with his feet fast in the stocks, to be as happy as a man in health and at liberty?

Does a good man's influence cease when he is imprisoned and his limbs are fettered?

"THE SPIRIT OF THE MINES," A MASSIVE PIECE OF SCULPTURE.

Chicago, Ill.—One of the most wonderful and massive pieces of work ever undertaken by a student's class in sculpture is nearing completion at the Chicago Art Institute. The production, "The Spirit of the Mines," is being modeled by the members of the sculpture department of the institute, more than 30 young men and women participating. The idea originated with Charles J. Mulligan of the sculpture department. About 10

MAJOR LEAGUE SCOUTS WHO WANDER SOUTH AREN'T KEEPING AWAY FROM LITTLE ROCK. In the lineup of the locals is a player who is attracting attention far and wide. He is Casey Casey. Although small for the backstop, Casey has gotten away in such splendid style this season that five or six clubs have already put in word for him. However, it looks like Casey for the St. Louis Americans inasmuch as Jack O'Connor, veteran backstop of McAleer's crew is managing Little Rock this season.

While young in the business Casey catches some heavy ball. His development has been fast under the watchful eye of O'Connor, and it is believed that by the time he is grabbed off he will be ready for big league company.

SHREDDED WHEAT

Biscuit with half pint of milk, a little fruit and a cup of coffee. Delicious and strengthening. Try it.

Forty Years Ago

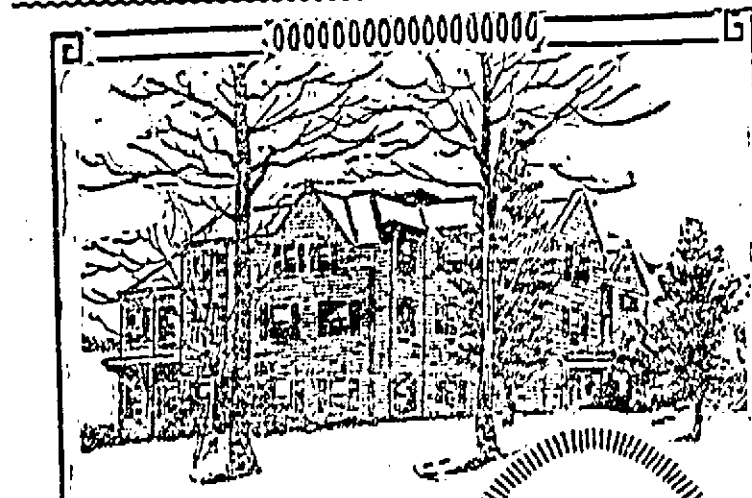

Jan. 11th, 1869.—The Janesville Daily Gazette, July 9, 1869.—Clear Lake.—A large party of young people visited this delightful place Wednesday for an excursion and picnic. They report a pleasant time.

Base Ball.—On Tuesday the 6th inst., the Little Giant B. B. C. of Milton played with the 1st nine Harborside of Coon Creek and beat them by a score of seventeen to eight. The Little Giant as a pony club have never been beaten, and challenges from any pony clubs in Rock Co. will receive prompt attention.

Runaway.—A team attached to a lumber wagon became frightened near the freight depot yesterday and went dashing down Jackson street. There was no one in the wagon and the team had it all its own way. We could not learn that any damage was done except to demoralize the wagon.

Replanking.—The authorities are busy at work replanking the lower bridge. This was necessary as the planks are worn quite thin and the travel over it while the Milwaukee street bridge is being rebuilt will be very great.

High Water.—The water in the river is as high as it has been at any time this season. The pressure was so great against the plank and timber across the chute that about two thirds of it gave way and was carried down stream.

From Bench to Broom.

Police Judge Thomas Stanton of East St. Louis gave up his office and took a job on the streets as a sweeper. The doctors advised him that he must get busy out of doors or in a short time he would need no employment of any kind. It is rather unusual for a man who is ordered out of doors to take to the streets of a city rather than to the fields and the woods. But evidently in this case the man's lungs were all right, and it was the exercise that he needed. The Judge claimed that he noted an immediate improvement in his condition. His old job paid him $300 per month, while his new one yields but $1.50 per day. But he gave up the old one cheerfully. For no doubt he holds that it is better to be a living street sweeper than a dead judge.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.
